GLOSSARY

Harry T. Burn—Harry T. Burn (helvie) originally sided with the antisuffragists who opposed suffrage on many grounds, including state's rights. After receiving a letter from his mother in which she advised him, "Don't forget to be a good boy and help Mrs. "Thomas Catt' with her "Rats' (meaning ratification)." Burn changed his vote.

NEW IN THE PERMANENT GALLERIES

Tennessee in World War II

World War II profoundly changed Tennessee. An exhibit dedicated to the conflict and its role in American and Tennessee history is now onen as part of the Change and Challenge (1870-1945) exhibition near the end of the Time Tunnel, Many Tennesseans served with distinction in the armed forces overseas. while others contributed on the home front in a variety of ways. Tennessee became a site for military training bases, known as the Tennessee Maneuvers; prisoner of war camps, such as Camp Forrest; and war industries, including the atomic facility at Oak Ridge. World War II not only ended the Great Depression, it set the state on the path to greater economic opportunities in the future. The artifacts, uniforms and photographs from the Museum's collection on display tell the story of the state's role in this worldwide conflict.

Pre-1800 American Flag

One of the rare artifacts on exhibit in the Museum's Forging a Nation exhibition is a 13-star American flag and its pole. Both likely date to the 1790s. According to Dr. Candace Adelson, curator of fashion & textiles, fewer than 20 large pre-1800 U.S. flags have survived. The flag is part of the Tennessee Historical Society collection, which the State Museum halosi is trust. In 2003. while surveying State Museum flags.

Introduction

Grace Stewart, Director of Collections & Exhibitions

Mascams, whatever their focus, have the kelly and totalisating task of posserving the past while simultaneously premoting the fature of their area of expertise. At the Metal Mascam, this has been taken up with great enthosism by artists, administrators, educators, contains, and volunteers over the past of years. For an institution that was truly built from the ground up with Mood, twent, and tears fand some coal dust, 60 years can feel like a lifetime ago and year yeelengly. It is a get to time to reflect on how far the Massemus has come and where it is gings.

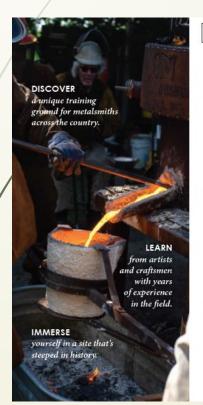

The most important thing in know about the Media Massaum is that it is more an artist museum than on art museum. It is a pilec, an idea, a hone that was tablish by and for metal artists. Those of its who save not must artist, who have follows in two with the Massaum and declinated sure hours, days, and years in its service, are showing gratified to have been exclosured into this interior and interior artist and artist artist artist was sure to the artist and artist artist who were cheer at the beginning and some choice who have recently justiced us in our grant andeavor to proceed any of the artists who were been at the beginning and source those who have recently justiced us in our grant andeavor to proceed any of the artists and their works from two of the most important series of exhibitions at the Metal Massaum, Master Metalmitted Thistories.

Many of the pieces in this show are part of the Metal Masseania Permanent Collection, as the institution has always been dermined committed to collecting the works of influential contrapenary matter states at all casps of their careers. We are periodially gasteful to the doors who have built the Permanent Collection sever the years. The Permanent Collection sever the years are presented by the property of the Permanent Collection sever the years. The Permanent Permanent Collection several Permanent Colle
